FOREWORD

A great challenge is faced by the young men and women of today. We, the Class of 1959, are about to face this challenge. An understanding, willing, and capable faculty have labored earnestly and unreservedly to enrich our lives with knowledge. This is the basic factor necessary for our success in the outside world into which we shall now venture.

Instilled with principles which are in keeping with the high standards set by our teachers and advisors and with a deep sense of respect and obligation to the many loyal alumni of our beloved Stevens, we face the challenge, prepared, resourceful, and unafeard.

We Face the Challenge!

Through these portals to face the challenge of the future have passed nearly four thousand graduates of Stevens High School.

Are we ready to face the challenge? That is the most pertinent question when graduation draws near. The Class of 1959, perhaps more than the classes of the past, because of the high standards of today has a greater task and a heavier responsibility for fully answering this challenging question. Upon our graduation from High School, we shall have completed the main step in our preparation towards facing the challenge. During the past twelve years, we the graduates, have furthered our knowledge yearly to a greater extent. We started by learning the basic fundamentals of the three R's. Through the use of these fundamentals, we gradually began to understand the people and the many activities going on around us each day. As the years progressed and our knowledge increased, we encountered many new experiences as we became participants in our nation's program. As Seniors, we now begin to realize how important this earlier schooling has been and how much it has contributed to our present status. Although our present standing is largely due to our past schooling, the urge for higher education had to be present. When one graduates and receives a diploma, he has achieved a worthy goal.

Graduation is like the trunk of a tree with its many outreaching branches. A graduate wishes to climb to the top but finds many obstacles along his way. On the pathway to success one often makes many wrong decisions which must be reconsidered and often changed. The number of opportunities is great and must be carefully observed so that one may obtain the position that suits him best. Many of us will take additional steps to achieve these positions by attending college or other schools of advanced learning. Others will fulfill their obligation to their country by entering the service first before deciding on any definite occupation or field of work whereas some immediately begin working on their particular career or field of interest. Because of individualism, many various fields are being expanded or discovered through the research, progress, and advancement of the people.

A college diploma represents an extensive amount of hard work. It is also a very high grade of education and a key to a successful life. Many advantages accompany one who has received such a degree. In this day and age, the standards of employment are largely based upon the amount of education one has received.

One must have confidence and faith in his own ability and willingness to work toward such a goal. After finally achieving this, he realizes that there is no limit to one's education. Education continues throughout life for one can never learn all there is to know.

Our education today has many advantages over that of the past generations because of the constant efforts of our ancestors in recent years. They have developed many new methods to modernize and improve our schools for our welfare. Through their efforts our realm of knowledge has been highly elevated and broadened. We, of the present generation, shall strive to the best of our ability to continue these progressive advancements in the field of education so that our children will have better opportunities, just as our parents have provided for us.

In facing the challenge, we challenge ourselves in our education. We are about to enter into a new phase of life which will test our strength, endurance, and ability to succeed. Responsibility will now be greater and in the near future, one knows that he will be required to support himself and eventually his family in most instances. There are many necessary sacrifices that we will have to make. Difficulty and sorrow will undoubtedly be included, but happiness and success should prevail if one does not expect failure and faces the challenge with renewed enthusiasm and determination. Through all our trials and tribulations, we shall forever hold high the motto of Stevens High School — "Palma non sine pulvere." We shall never forget our wonderful school after we take one of the biggest steps in our lives as We Face The Challenge.

The Stevens High School flag carries high its proud motto; graduates face their challenge with the knowledge that there is no victory secured with a struggle.

TO THE CLASS OF 1959

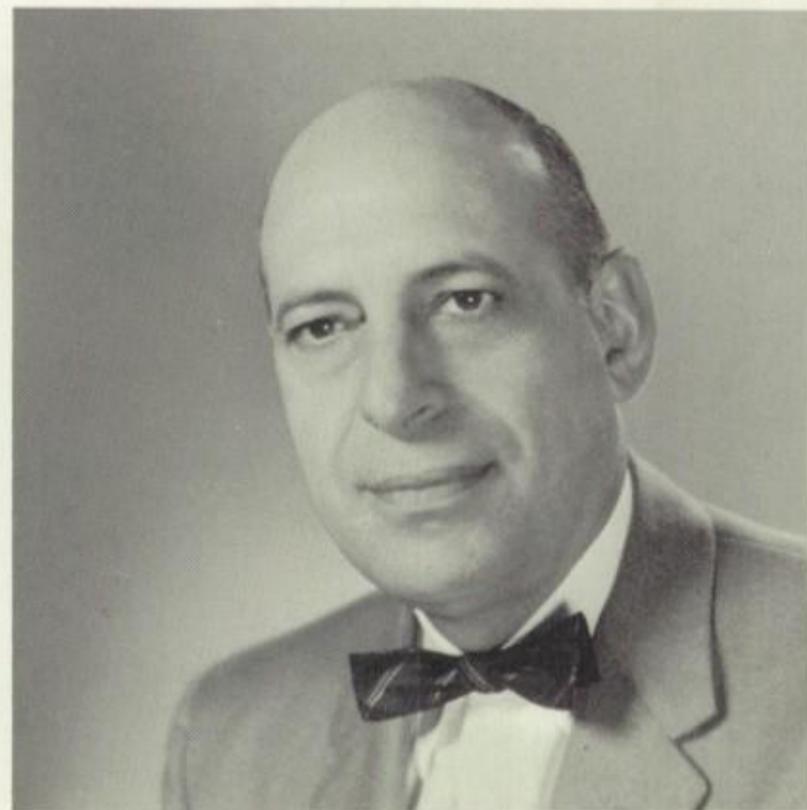

My sincere congratulations to you on having successfully completed the prescribed program of studies at Stevens High School.

Your theme "We Face the Challenge" is well chosen. I am sure each of you realizes your responsibility for your home, your community, your state and your nation. The challenge for the future is to keep all of these intact. This will not be easy. Much has happened in the past decade, and much will happen in the next that will have a decided influence on these social institutions and on your lives. How well you have prepared yourselves in the past four years and how established your goals are for the years to come will determine whether or not you will make a contribution to the society in which you live. Choose your field of work carefully, develop a respect for it and yourselves, apply yourselves to the utmost of your abilities. The successes that you will achieve will be the result of hard work; nothing worthwhile comes easily.

I have every confidence that we shall be proud of the Class of 1959.

I wish you much success and happiness in the years to come.

Newell J. Paire,
Superintendent of Schools

MR. NEWELL J. PAIRE, SUPERINTENDENT OF SCHOOLS in Claremont, has completed his first year as administrative head of the city schools. During this time he has won the respect of teachers and townspeople by the vigorous and just manner in which he has met the numerous problems that arise in a school system serving nearly three thousand students.

NATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK was celebrated in a unique way by the Claremont Public Schools. A parade was held of all school personnel including the administration, the clerical help, school custodians, the Stevens Band and the Junior High School Band and nearly three thousand students. This parade demonstrated convincingly to several thousand onlookers the growth in school population and personnel that has taken place in the past few years.

TO THE CLASS OF 1959

Every day good teachers are issuing challenges to their pupils, although those challenged may not recognize them as such. But the manner in which they are met in classrooms very clearly indicates how each young man or woman is going to react to the challenges of a lifetime. The student who has given up when a subject or assignment seemed difficult will probably miss the richness and growth engendered by overcoming obstacles in his future whenever the going gets rough.

Perhaps it is too much to hope that we, the faculty and administration of Stevens High, have helped to prepare each of you to face life in the spirit of surmounting and profiting from the experiences, good and bad, that surely are ahead of you. However, I do hope so. With enthusiasm and courage, bolstered by faith in Almighty God, there are no limits to the goals you may set yourselves.

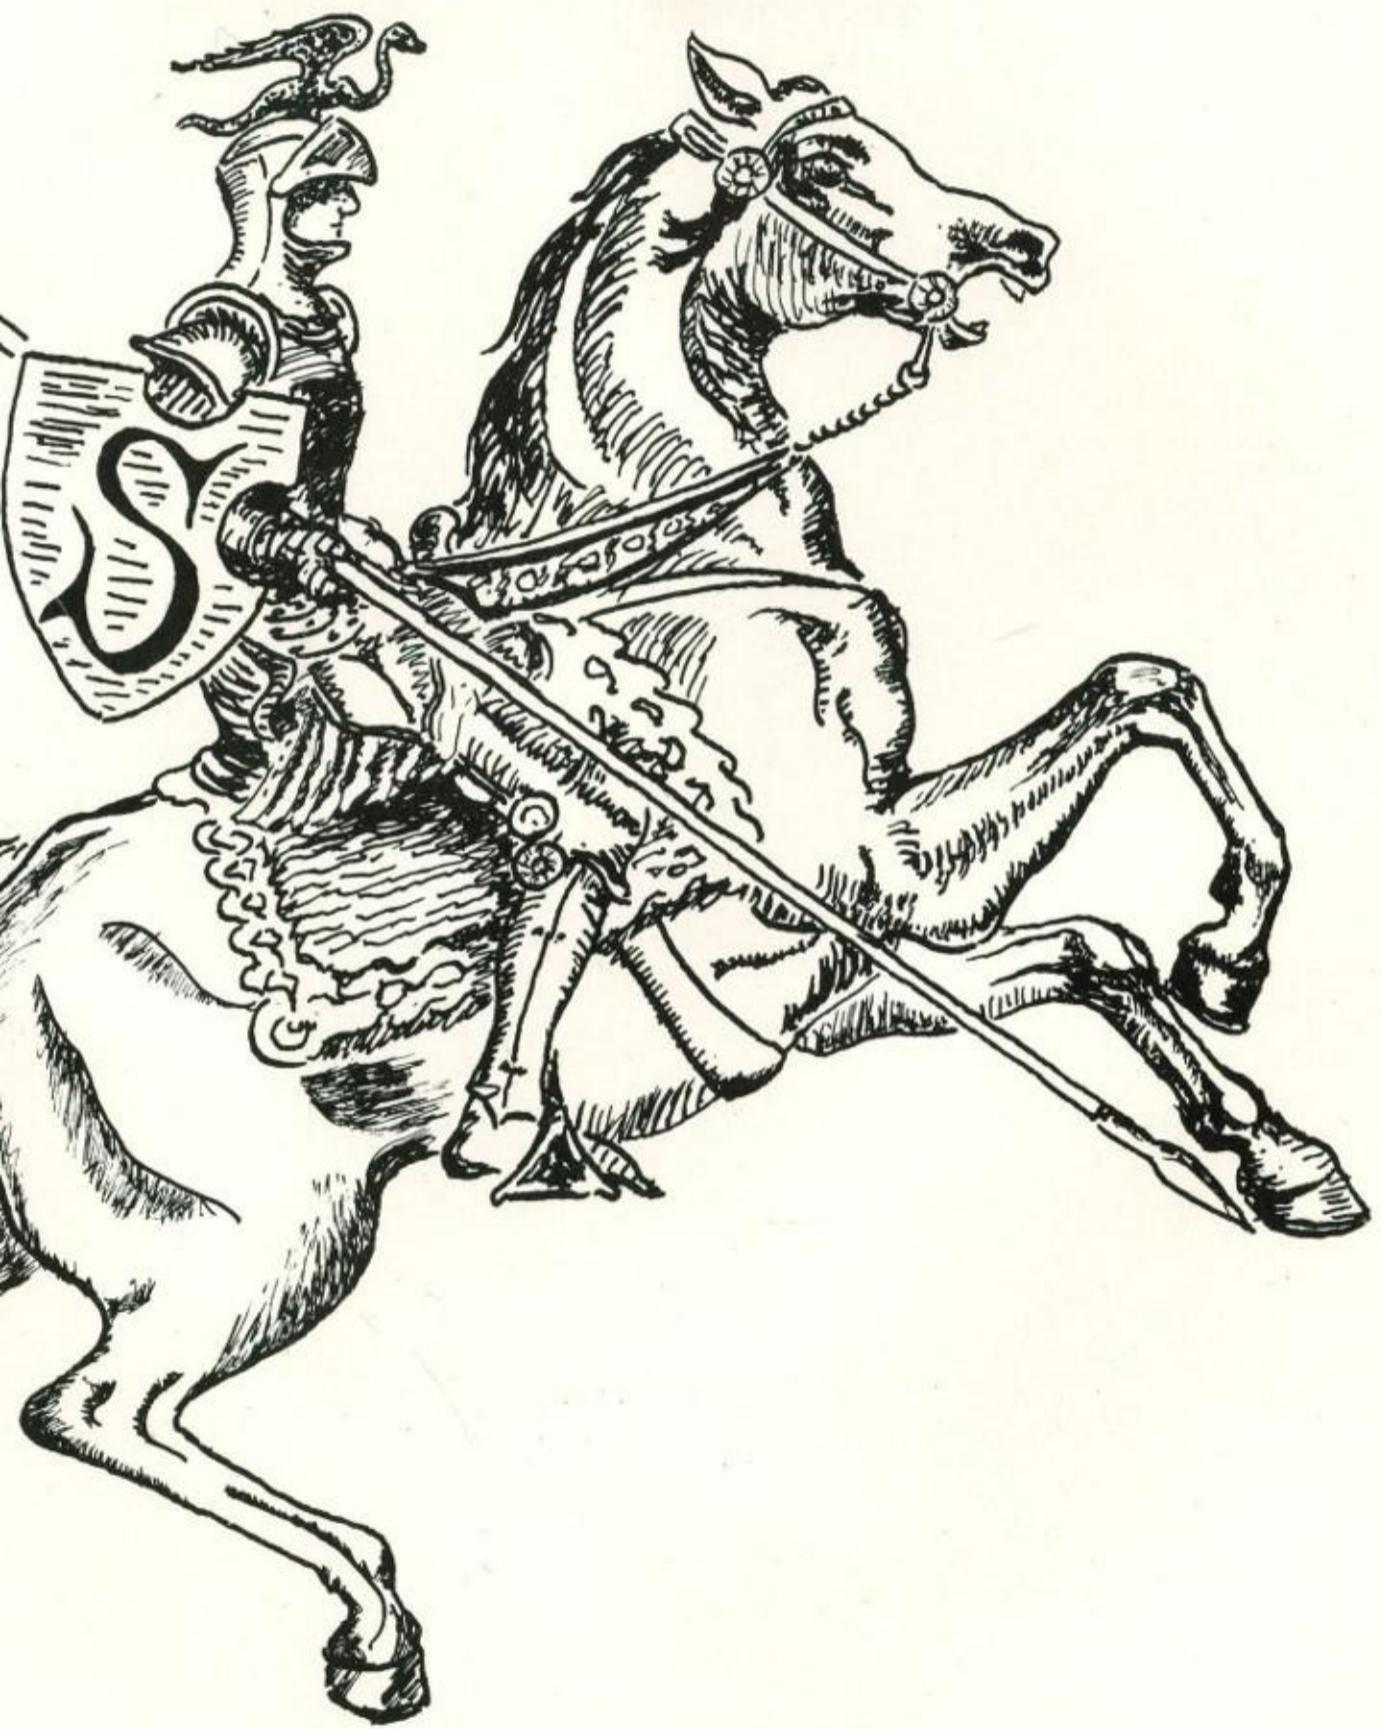

Devotedly yours,

WE FACE

THE CHALLENGE!

We Face the Challenge of Today,

THE FRESHMAN CLASS OFFICERS joyfully accept their duties in leading their class through its first year at Stevens: Kathleen McLaughlin, Karol Blish, Sandra Bostwick, and Rockwell Haubrich.

THE SOPHOMORE CLASS OFFICERS confidently undertake the many tasks of their second year in our school: Eileen Ferriter, Carol Brown, Shirley Davis, and Scott Fitz.

the Challenge of Twentieth Century Man;

THE JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS look forward to the biggest event of the year, the Junior Prom: Theodore Ruest, Cynthia Reed, Patricia Goodhue, and James Mozden.

THE SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS set out to make their last year at Stevens one that will always be remembered. With joy and some regret they look forward to receiving their diplomas: Wesley McNair, David O'Haire, Joan Chrostowski, and Ann McLaughlin.

With Honor and Integrity We Face It

PROUD ACHIEVEMENT IS RECOGNIZED — These members of the Honor Society were announced at the Class Day exercises this last June. They all have the right to be extremely proud of their achievements completed by their Junior year here at Stevens which have made them eligible for this honor. — Rodney Tenney, Edward Engel, Virginia Johnson, Judith Arlin, Patricia Roundy, Carol Couture, and Carl Couture.

The highest award that can be bestowed upon a student of Stevens High School is to be included in the membership of the National Honor Society. To be admitted to this select group a student must be well-rounded and intelligent. Those who are qualified on both scholastic ability and extra-curricular activities are chosen. The first qualification is the rank according to the class average scholastically. These same students are then arranged by their participation in outside activities. These are scored by the time spent in each. The two ranks are averaged and from that final analysis about 15% of the class is chosen. This year the society is awarding scholarships for members on a competitive basis. The honor that accompanies the admission to such a carefully selected society is one to feel proud of and to cherish.

Under the Aegis of Elected Leaders,

UNDER THE ABLE DIRECTION OF MR. WAYNE S. GRAY, THE STUDENT COUNCIL discharges its responsibilities throughout the school year. Sponsorship of worthwhile activities results in just rewards and enjoyment for all. — STANDING: Mr. Wayne S. Gray, Robert Buckley, Jerry Belski, John Litevich, Kalman Winer, Maureen O'Donnell, Jayne Denis, Sylvia Diamond. SITTING: Stephen Mudgett, Marilyn Garceau, Jill Morrison, Suzanne Ladeau, Margaret Kimball, Laurie Soper, Donna Peoples.

The incumbent Student Council of Stevens High School has tried to be more authoritative and creative in their term of office than other councils in the past. Our officers and members have always been interested in good government. Understanding the needs of the students, the council promoted unity and cooperation of pupils and teachers in extra-curricular activities of the school. Under the excellent guidance of Mr. Wayne S. Gray, the faculty advisor, the members of the student government have learned the principles of government functions.

The council is comprised of fourteen members: five seniors, four juniors, three sophomores and two freshmen. President Marilyn Garceau presided over each meeting. The council held regular meetings every other Thursday at which times they passed bills or discussed specific subjects directed to them. This group joined the regional Student Council which discusses prominent problems of all councils in the Twin State Valley.

With Faith in the Peerless Worth

ALL SMILES — William Fennessy, Edward Engel, Theodore Marek, William Gallagher, and Philip Barton show their approvalment of their stay at Durham. Boys' State played an important roll this summer for these boys as they learned about their government with other high school boys from all over New Hampshire.

On the twenty-second of June one hundred and seventy-six boys invaded the campus of the University of New Hampshire. Sharing rooms in Hetzel and Fairchild Halls, these delegates to the 1958 session of New Hampshire Boys' State embarked upon a week of concentrated study of the State government. By means of lectures and participation in mock assemblies, the many facets of state and local government were introduced to an enthusiastic assembly.

The delegates to Boys' State were divided into two parties, the Federalists and the Whigs, and into two towns, the Town of Liberty and the City of Freedom. Campaigning for the various offices was fast and furious. Speeches were made, posters and signs of all descriptions were hung in every conceivable place, and band concerts were given by the two parties. Riding to victory, Peter Barrett from Keene was elected governor in the final contest.

On Saturday, June 28, 1958, graduation was held, and diplomas were presented to each delegate. Everyone had enjoyed a week filled with learning and with fun.

EYES ON THE SUBJECT — Ann McLaughlin takes over as typist as Patricia Roundy, Chrisetta Thompson, Sara Trembly, Jill Morrison, Joan Chrostowski, and Marilyn Garceau look on. They benefited greatly from their stay at U. N. H. and made many new friends with the girls who attended Girls' State.

As I arrived at U. N. H. on June 29, I did not know that the week would hold such a thrilling and worthwhile adventure for me. Every day was a new experience. At the start we were divided into two political parties and into senators and representatives. We heard lectures by prominent people on parliamentary procedure, on city and state government, on civil defense, and on court procedure. We set up our own governments; we held our own elections; and we made our own laws as realistically as possible. We had party platforms and carried out extensive campaigning for our gubernatorial candidates. In spite of all the work we had time for recreation. My week at Granite Girls' State taught me to appreciate the work of the people in our government and the value of doing one's own little part in making a better world with "a lasting peace for every man."

With a Deep and Burning Desire

FUNCTIONING SMOOTHLY AND EFFICIENTLY, the assembly committee, composed of members of the senior class under the competent supervision of Mr. Raymond LeBouthillier, provides the student body with interesting and varied programs. The work of this committee is a vital link in the chain of school activities which is important to all the students. Lawrence Wight, Philip Barton, John Litevich, David Thompson, Margaret Kehoe, Suellen Helie, and Mr. LeBouthillier.

"NEXT ON OUR PROGRAM—," announces David Thompson, a member of the assembly committee. Principal Edgar Lord and Mr. LeBouthillier calmly await their turn at the rostrum.

"I PLEDGE ALLEGIANCE TO THE FLAG OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA," — these words, a part of the flag salute, are an integral part of all our assemblies. Here John Litevich leads his fellow students in this exercise. Suellen Helie, Lawrence Wight, Margaret Kehoe, and David Thompson.

HELPING HANDS AND CAPABLE DIRECTION result in the many accomplishments of the assembly committee. All the members cooperate in carrying out their many tasks. The final result is a satisfaction in worth-while activity. Margaret Kehoe, David Thompson, and Lawrence Wight.

INTENT AND INTERESTED, these members check a controversial point in a potential program. Harmony and originality are necessary qualities for an efficient assembly committee. David Thompson, Suellen Helie, Margaret Kehoe, Philip Barton, Lawrence Wight, and John Litevich.

With a Profound Thirst for Knowledge

DISCUSSING A POINT — The boys who brought back high recognition from St. Paul's School gather for a talk in the hall. Stevens was honored to have such a representation at this great experience in education. — Jerome Goggin, Kalman Winer, Bernard Folta, Stephen Mudgett, Robert Giles, Rodney Tenney.

One day in October 1957, the quiet routine of our third year at Stevens was suddenly enlivened by a brochure which we received from St. Paul's School in Concord, New Hampshire. It explained a brand new plan in education whereby male students from New Hampshire high schools could apply for enrollment in a six weeks' summer course to be given at St. Paul's School under the auspices of the state. It was to be known as the Advanced Studies Program.

Although scholarships were available, the invitations to apply for membership were accepted with varying degrees of fervor. Some students, less daring perhaps, hesitated, while others responded immediately.

I had once been to a New England Drama Festival at St. Paul's. I well remembered the beauty of the school's campus, and the stately splendor of the Memorial Hall where the plays were presented. At that time, my dream of ever studying there seemed extremely remote. Now I was being asked to fill out an application form for admittance to this fine school. The requirements were strict. There were essays to write and recommendations to be secured. Then, in November, came the biggest hurdle — the personal interview. Finally, on Sunday, June 22, the big day came when six of us from Stevens arrived at St. Paul's School. We worked hard, but we were happy and very grateful for this opportunity which has so greatly enriched our lives.

Revealed to Us by Men and Women,

A MOMENT OF RESPITE — Enjoying a chat before the bell in the Stevens' library are Mary-Jane Perry, B.Ed. Keene Teachers' College, an English III teacher; Emma Swett, B.Ed. Keene Teachers' College, Home Economics teacher; Carol Loiselle, B.Ed. Keene Teachers' College, teacher of Home Economics; and Leona Tremblay, L.S. Simmons, the Stevens' librarian.

HAPPY WITH THEIR WORK — Joseph Maiola, B.S. Ithaca, teacher of History of Civilization and General Business Training; Paul J. Jobin, B.A. Stonehill College, Latin instructor, and Normand Paquette, A.M. Middlebury, English IV, teacher and yearbook advisor relax with a casual conversation prior to their first class.

Dedicated to Its Rewarding Service.

A TRIPLE CHECK — Our able administrators, Wayne S. Gray, Peabody A.M., assistant principal and junior English; Dorothy Kuzmich, Mr. Lord's efficient secretary; and Principal Edgar L. Lord, get together on an important school record. Throughout the year they fulfill the arduous task of managing the school.

THOUGHTFUL REGARD — Looking efficient and willing to help, five admirable teachers are Aletha Childs, A.M. Bucknell, Geometry teacher and guidance counselor; Esther Kapala, B.A. University of New Hampshire, French I and French III teacher; Richard Dyer, B.S. Bryant College, teacher of commercial subjects; Ruth Little, B.A. University of New Hampshire, English II and English IV instructor; Alice Schriber, Malden Commercial College, teacher of Typing, Stenography, and Office Practice.

Inspired by Their Brave Example,

FRIENDLY CIRCLE — Moments of fun shared by teachers with a sense of humor are evident through the radiant smiles of Gerard Rousseau, B.A. Assumption College, teacher of French and English I; Frank Connors, A.B. Oberlin College, teacher of General Business and Civics; and Paul Magoon, B.Ed. Plymouth Teachers College, teacher of English I.

TIME OUT — A favorite noon hour pastime for the male members of the faculty is a game of cards. Here Harry Moore, M.A. Columbia, Physics and Physical Geography instructor; W. Wade Perkins, B.A. University of New Hampshire, United States History teacher; Jesse L. Piper, Ed.B. Keene Teachers' College, Ed.M. University of Idaho, English II teacher; and Raymond LeBouthiller, B.S. University of New Hampshire, teacher of Chemistry and Math IV seem to be enjoying themselves.

Guided by Their True Wisdom

A JOKE SHARED lightens the cares and burdens of a day's work: Paul Nunn, B.Ed., Keene Teachers College; Distributive Education Coordinator; Joseph Littlefield, B.Ed., Keene Teachers College; Driver Education; and Tallman Budd, Georgetown University, B.S.F.S. and University of Southern California, M.F.A.

INSTRUCTORS IN VARIED FIELDS share common goals through hard work and faculty cooperation: Gordon Soflin, Boston University B.S. Ed. Biology and basketball coach; Willard Rollins, B.S. University of New Hampshire; Algebra; Walter S. Paskevich, B. Music, Syracuse, Supervisor of Music; and John Sideris, M.Ed. University of New Hampshire, Social Studies.

Confident, Unafraid, We Face the Challenge

THREE INSTRUCTORS WITH COMMON INTERESTS that result in finished work of the highest caliber: Woodworking instructors Victor Pomiecko, M.Ed.,

Boston University and Walter Miner, B.Ed., Deene Teachers College with Ernest Pyer (center) instructor in metal working.

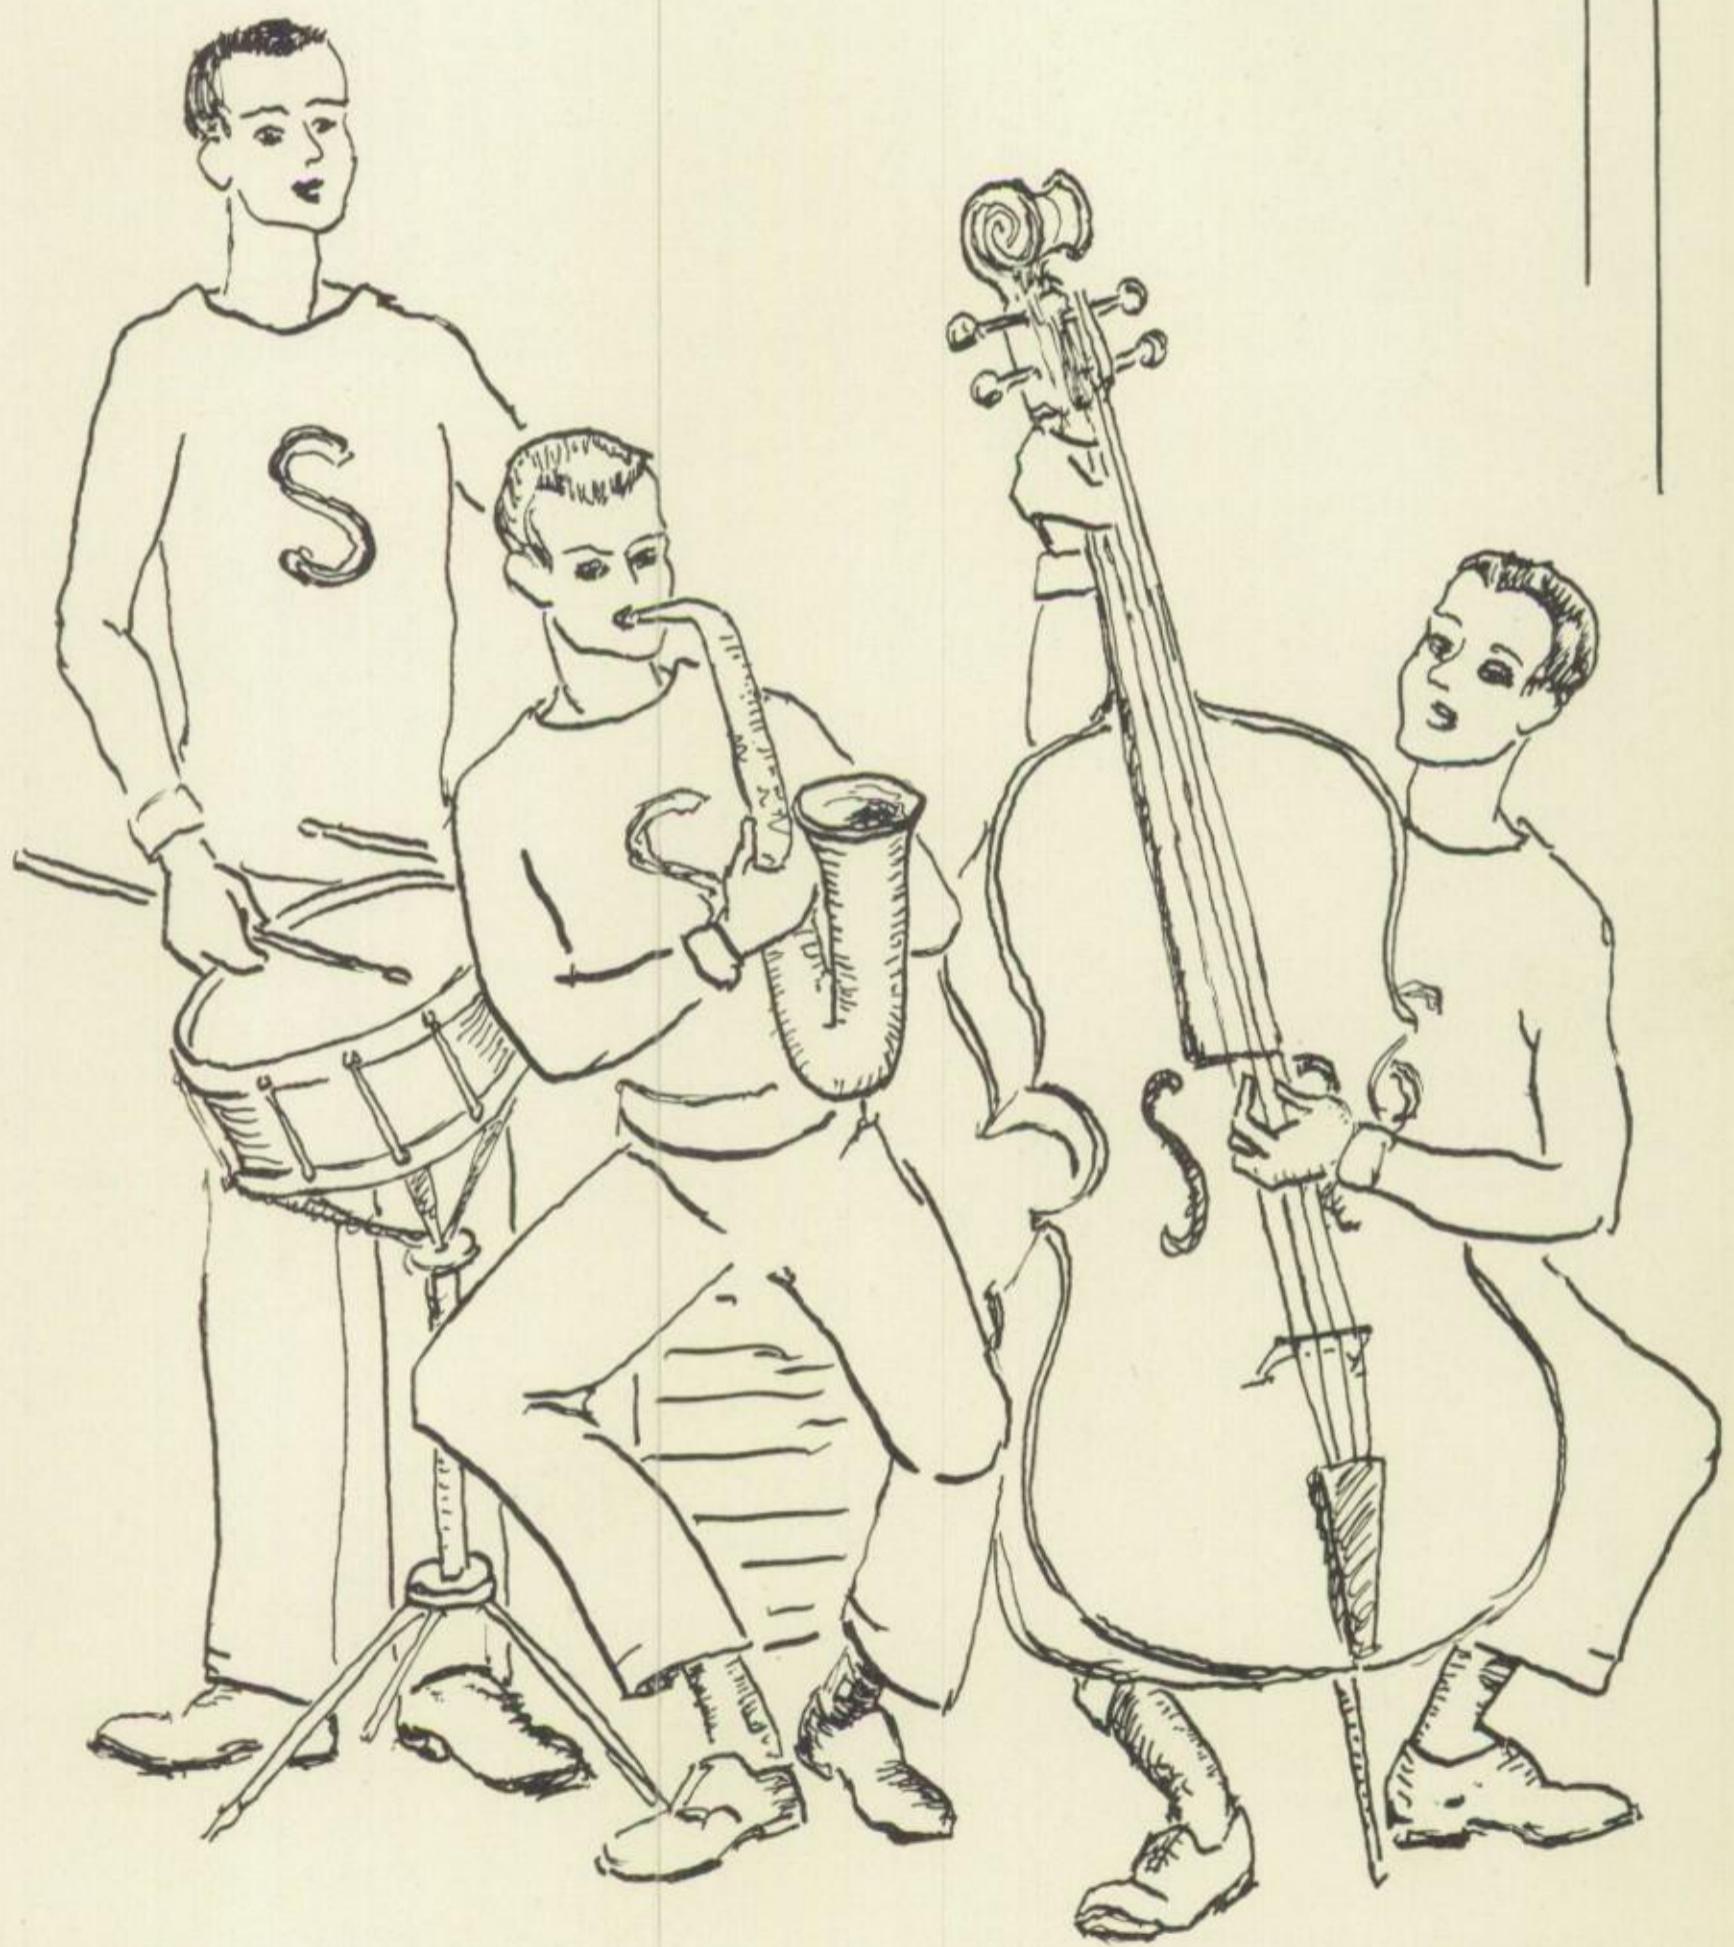

PROVISION FOR DEVELOPMENT and exercise of the body as well as the mind, training in cooperation, in social and moral values: Robert Walker, B.S., Springfield, Coach of football and athletic director and Persis McLeod, Coach of girls' sports.

from the Ages in the Realm of Music;

THE EXCELLENCE IN PERFORMANCE ACHIEVED BY THE BAND is the result of many hours of painstaking practice during morning activity periods and during lunch hours. The marching band appears at football games and in civic parades throughout the year.

With Pride in Our Excellence,

HARMONIOUS MELODIES are given forth by Stevens A Cappella Choir. This year the choir was larger than it had ever been before, showing the growing interest in the organization. Throughout the year the choir appears before many organizations and in the annual school performances. With the girls in their new robes, the choir can well be proud of its appearance. The robes, donated by the Stevens Alumni Association, are a bright red with black stoles.

With Joy in Our Performance,

The choir presents a varied assortment of music, ranging from folk tunes to songs of a religious nature, offering a program of enjoyment to all. To be in the choir is in itself a great pleasure. It takes a lot of hard work to maintain a repertoire of high quality, but the pleasure achieved overbalances this discontent. As a member of such an organization one is able to develop his personality and make many friends. This friendship will stay with an individual for many years to come, and he will cherish it. Mr. Paskevich, after working with many of the students for four years, must feel that he has accomplished a great deal.

We Acquire Unto Ourselves

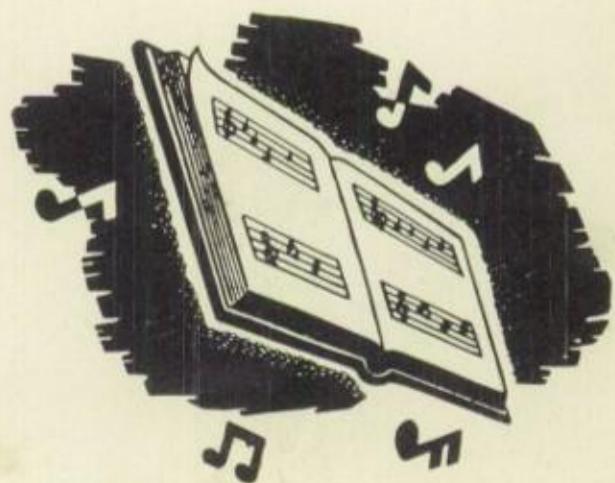

MAGIC SOUNDS OF STRINGS are produced by Stevens High School Orchestra. The orchestra this year was able to win five compliments from its performances. We are fortunate to have such a fine membership in our orchestra — both in number and quality. Most of the high schools in the state cannot boast of such an accomplished orchestra.

an Appreciation of the Beautiful

The orchestra exhibits a variety of music which is pleasing to their audiences as well as to themselves in their appearances throughout the year. The four-year members have truly enjoyed belonging to the orchestra which was an instructive and pleasant activity. The orchestra has been able to achieve such an honorable reputation mainly through the efforts of our able director of music, Mr. Walter Paskevich.

This year is the second year that the Stevens Future Teachers Club has been organized. Membership is open to Seniors and Juniors who plan to become teachers. The club consists of thirty-one members.

Monthly meetings are held. Four days during the year the students gain some practical knowledge by helping teachers in the Claremont school system. The F.T.A. Club is affiliated with the State and National organizations. In the fall and spring representatives from the Stevens club attend the State Conventions.

Some of the monthly meetings have been as follows; "Qualifications of a Good Teacher" — Mr. Newell J. Paire, Superintendent of Schools: Joint meetings with the Claremont Teachers' Council; Panel Discussions — "Why I like Teaching" by teachers in the Claremont system; Comparisons of teaching in the United States and foreign countries — By exchange teachers from foreign countries; Movie "No Teacher Alone"; Summation of teaching experiences; Visitation of Teachers' Colleges in the state.

The officers of the club are as follows; President — Joan Chrostowski, Vice-President — Jean Brownell, Secretary — Carol Jewell, Treasurer — Jayne Denis, Program Chairman — Marjorie Merrill, Librarian — Nancy Feeney.

THE JUNIOR LIBRARIANS AT STEVENS thoroughly enjoy an afternoon chat with Miss Leona Tremblay, their able advisor and our efficient school librarian. These girls assist Miss Tremblay in many ways concerning the library work and helping students to use the library properly.

The library, one of the busiest rooms in Stevens, is also one of the most important. Here the student comes to read, to find reference books, to peruse magazines, and to seek general information. To aid in coping with the work which this busy atmosphere generates, our librarian, Miss Leona Tremblay, trains a group of girls to be junior librarians. The girls' duties are varied; they mend and shelve books, help students to find information, plan bulletin boards for the library, and work at the charging desk. With two girls in the library each period, the group is limited to about ten members. Because the group is organized like a club, the girls' activities are not limited to library work. They hold record hops, paper drives, and food sales in order to raise money which they use at the end of the year to finance a trip. The club is important to the girls, not only because it is fun, but also because it gives them sound training often useful in later life.

SUCCESSFUL AND SMILING, the staff of "The Stentor" has done a sterling job in publishing a school newspaper. Under the direction of Mr. Dyer they have revived a very worth-while activity. Jeffery Bayer, Kalman Winer, Bernard Folta, Sarah Tremblay, Carol Hewes, and Deborah Bayer.

TYPING, A TREMENDOUS TASK in any publication, is carried out with enthusiasm by the students on the newspaper staff. "The Stentor" has successfully re-launched the tradition of a school newspaper, and its CLOSE ATTENTION IS REQUIRED in operating machines. Here a drill press is carefully employed by Stewart Plouffe and Perry Hackett.

MYSTERIES OF THE TELEPHONE are unfolded before the eyes of interested mechanic arts students. This is one of the many phases of education available in our school.

WONDERS OF THE LATHE are employed by Douglas Murray in turning out a part of his project. The lathe is one of the many power tools used for turning steel as well as wood in our shop.

EVEN DANTE WOULD BE APPALLED AT THE SIGHT he has created in the theme of the 1958 Junior Prom. Lawrence Wight, Carol Couture, Lucille McCarthy, Carol Jewell, and Carl Couture regard the devil's head with mixed emotions.

ENJOYMENT IS SEEN IN THE FACES OF Marilyn Garceau, Rodney Tenney, Carol Jewell, and Carl Couture while they work on columns to be used at the prom, the year's most outstanding social event.

Wight and David Thompson check its suspension during last minute preparations before the gala evening.

PUTTING A TALL SILK HAT on the devil, Lawrence Wight shows no fear of Satan's grim countenance.

THE QUEEN OF THE PROM, CAROL COUTURE, is surrounded by her court which includes Ann McLaughlin, Margaret Kehoe, and Carol Jewell, Juniors; Patricia Goodhue, a Sophomore; Gloria Brown, and Priscilla Buinicky, Seniors; and Carol Brown, a Freshman.

THE GRAND MARCH, another high point of the evening, was led by Carl Couture, chairman of the event, and his date, Jeanne LaFountaine.

SPORTS

Our Challenge Is Multi-faceted

DISTANCE MEN READY FOR A START under the watchful eye of Coach Frank Connors are Philip Lehner, Edward Marro, Stephen Zemianek, Lawrence Wight, and Roger Hannaford.

UP AND OVER hurdles David Thompson with his point-winning form. David's points were a big help in a successful season.

THE SPRING TRACK TEAM beams happily as the result of a successful season — Stanley Woodman, James Hill, Righard Green, Gary Elmer, Winfield Clark, David Thompson, Ronald Bodge, Brian Eaton, Edward Marro, Theodore Ruest, William Picknell, James Skillen, Thomas Burke, and Paul Marro. SECOND ROW: Rodney Hannaford, Joseph Bass, Robert Talbert, Phillip Lehner, Stephen Zemianek, Roger Hannaford, Lawrence Wight, Coach Frank Connors, Rodney Tenney, Donald Greenwood, Stephen Barton, Carl Couture, Henry Patten, Robert Le Clair, Robert Picknell, Noel Fontaine, William Crowder, and Charles Mann.

CONDITIONING FOR PHYSICAL ENDURANCE — members of the team participate in a few push-ups. Push-ups are one of the many exercises which were a must to be and to stay in condition.

LEADING THE TEAM in exercises is co-captain Carl Couture. Keeping in condition is determined by the amount of exercises performed. Realizing this, the boys do them regularly.

STRIDING ACROSS THE FINISH LINE the top three runners, Edward Marro, Peter McMullen, and Paul Rondinone, give all they have in finishing the race.

A Spirit of Cooperation, of Fair Play,

THE GIRLS' FIELD HOCKEY TEAM SMILE as they are reminded of their successful season which required many hours of serious work and preparation. BACK ROW: Frances Marshall, Jeannette Dandeneault, Janyce Béland, Co-Captain Joan Chrostowski, Ruhama Crandall, Laurie Soper, Lorraine George, and

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION REQUIREMENTS

Any girl meeting three of the following requirements is eligible for membership in the Girls' Athletic Association.

BE A VARSITY PLAYER IN ONE SPORT

BE A VARSITY CHEERLEADER FOR ONE YEAR

BE A STUDENT LEADER FOR 18 WEEKS

PLACE FIRST OR SECOND IN AN INDIVIDUAL TOURNAMENT

BE A BASKETBALL REFEREE (LOCAL RATING OR BETTER)

BE A SENIOR LIFE SAVER

ASSIST AT INTRAMURALS AS A TIMER, SCORER, OR COACH

BE A MANAGER FOR A VARSITY SPORT

BE A GIRL SCOUT LEADER OR COMMUNITY CENTER GROUP LEADER FOR 18 WEEKS

JEANNETTE DANDENAULT AND CAROLYN BLAKE heartily approve of the association's new constitution written by the officers of the organization.

THE GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION listen to Coach McLeod, their leader and advisor, as she expresses her opinion on a certain problem presently before the group. The organization has improved much this year over its last year's start. It has elected officers, decided on yearly dues, written a constitution for the group, and successfully completed different groups of intramural sports and activities for the students who desired to participate in the high school — Judith Ranta, Secretary Martha Abel, Chaplain Carolyn Blake, Priscilla Washburn, Vice-President Jeanne LaFountain, Jeannette Dandeneault, Frances Marshall, and President Joan Chrostowski.

Bodies Apt to Meet the Struggle

LAST MINUTE PREPARATIONS ARE MADE as these players tensely await kick-off time before the Lebanon game — Joseph Formichelli, William Picknell, David Bayer, James Stevens, Robert Watts, and Donald Greenwood.

SKIRTING THE END for a short gain senior half-back, Rodney Tenney, a consistent ground gainer and a standout on defense, is brought to the ground by a host of Lebanon tacklers.

BRILLIANTLY STEALING THE BALL, Michael Jangel stalls a drive deep in the opponent's territory and puts Stevens in scoring position. Despite the Cardinal's efforts, they were outscored by the Lebanon Raiders 22-18.

A FINE SHOWING was offered by the 1958 grid squad despite their unimpressive won-lost record. The team maintained its spirit and drive throughout the season — Head Coach Robert Walker, William Picknell, Rodney Tenney, Donald Greenwood, Albert Fowler, Michael Jangel, Laurence Wight, Emery St. Martin, Paul Nadeau, and Curtis Hammond. SECOND ROW — Assistant Coach Joseph Maiola, Clay Hawkins, Stanley Woodmon, Henry Patten, Robert Szalucka, Anthony Sanford, Donald Davis, Jeffrey Bayer, Nathan Ainsworth, and Manager Joseph La-Bounty.

INEXPERIENCE WAS RESPONSIBLE for the team's poor won-lost record, but with an abundance of returning lettermen the squad can look forward to a better season next year. Despite their inexperience the entire team performed nobly in defeating Towle in the annual contest — Assistant Coach John Scranton, Scott Fitz, Michael Patten, William Kittridge, Roy Winot, Richard Schettino, David Trottier, Joseph Formichelli, Brian Lizotte, David Osgood, Jon Williams, Ronald Nelson, Clarence LaPorte, William Wilson, Edward Narushof — FOURTH ROW — Robert Picknell, Robert LeClair, Stephen Barton, Truman Hunt, James Hill, Lawrence Martell, Norman Burgess, Wilfred St. Cyr, Paul Hanson, Richard Klementowicz, Rockwell Haubrich, David Bayer, Norman Mongeon, Robert Anderson, Raymond Brooks, and William Tenney.

TRADITIONAL RIVALRY makes the final game with Towle High of Newport a must for a successful season. Here the determination of the players is obvious as they converge on a Towle ball carrier.

SUCCESSFUL COMPLETION of a pass is made by Curtis Hammond, a senior end, who figured prominently in the team's final game with Towle. Scott Fitz, sophomore quarterback, was at the other end of this pass.

DETERMINED TO SCORE, Curtis Hammond lengthens his stride to elude the Towle defensemen as they close in on him after he has received a pass. A victory was secured by Stevens High in this annual grid classic with a scoring margin of eight points.

Sports, Playing an Integral Role

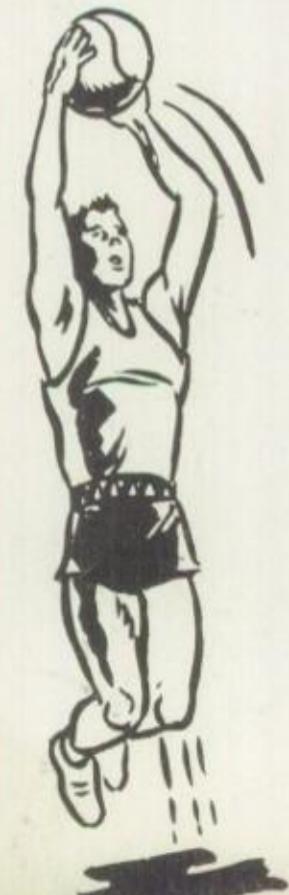

FULL OF SPIRIT is the 1958-59 varsity basketball team with their manager and new coach, Mr. Gordin Soflin. Starting his first year as a coach at Stevens, he had a fine group of boys to work with and did an excellent job in building up a fine team. As they had the right to be, the team was proud of a successful season. FRONT ROW: Kalman Winer, manager; Theodore Ruest, center;

Curtis Hammon, guard; Michael Jangel, forward; William Gallager, guard; Scott Fitz, forward; and Coach Gordin Soflin. SECOND ROW: Norman Burgess, forward; Richard Schettino, guard; Roy Winot, guard; James Caffrey, center; Stanley Pietrusewicz, forward; John Middleton, guard; and Dean Lamar, guard.

BUILDING FOR THE FUTURE, Coach Frank Connors and his Junior Varsity squad have enjoyed a successful season. Some of the Junior Varsity players have seen limited action with the Varsity team already. In the near future it is probable that these players will be our Varsity squad. Considering their ability and desire to play, we can be confident that basketball at Stevens will continue to gain prominence. Mr. Frank Connors, coach; Norman

Present to All Who Would Participate

SUCCESSFUL SKIERS TAKE TIME OUT to pose with their coach, Mr. Paul Potter. Despite unfavorable conditions and limited facilities, our Stevens skiers gained enough points to win a fourth place in the annual N.H.I.A.A. Class L Ski Meet, an accomplishment unprecedented in the history of our school. Mr. Paul Potter and his ski squad deserve much credit for their efforts which have established Stevens as a contender in New Hampshire.

ALPINE SPECIALIST, Michael Patten, is one of the best skiers on the squad. His excellent downhill and slalom runs are in part responsible for the team's success.

shire high school skiing. The members are as follows: Edward Marro, Peter McMullen, James Chrostowski, David Nunn, Leslie Tracy, Co-captains Rodney Tenney and Gary Elmer, David Wilbur, Jan Narushof, Douglas Schnyer, A. J. Maranville, Clifton LaBounty, Rockwell Haubrich, James Skillen, Robert Thoreson, Noel Fontaine, Michael Patten, Theodore Perry, and Coach Paul Potter.

ONLY A FRESHMAN, Theodore Perry, already is a major asset to the team. With young material such as this young skier, Coach Paul Potter can plan to maintain the winning way which this year's team has established.

the Opportunity to Face the Challenge

ROCKWELL HAUBRICH AND DOUGLAS SCHNYER consult briefly to determine the type of wax they should use. Expert waxing is an important factor in all events, especially for bad conditions.

INTO THE AIR springs Gary Elmer exhibiting his jumping style with a graceful leap. The jumping event is very exciting to watch and equally difficult to compete in. Gary Elmer, a senior, has been outstanding in this event and will be missed next year.

EXECUTING A SHARP TURN through a slalom gate, Robert Thoreson shifts his weight to maintain his balance. This talented sophomore will continue to help the team with his skillful performance in three events; down hill, slalom, and jumping.

THIS IS OUR CHANCE, TOO — The first grade pupils from Bluff School proudly march beside their classmates and teacher. They hold their banners high for all to see.

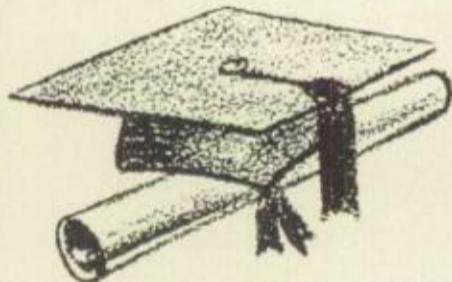

LEADING THE PARADE ARE THE JUNIOR HIGH COLOR GUARD. These boys from the Junior High School are proud to do their duty for their school by being members of the band. The Junior High majorettes eagerly follow close behind, keeping a steady pace.

STUDENTS ARE ABUNDANT. Excited parents and observers anxiously watch the National Education Week Parade as it passes by the Claremont Public Library and two of Claremont's churches as they continue on their route along Broad Street.

THE ALUMNI PARADE IS ON. Each year the Stevens Alumni Parade is a popular occasion for the people of Claremont and surrounding areas. The many floats, varied attractions, and the vivacious march tempos of the several bands — all add to the excitement of the day.

OLD FAMILIAR TIMES EXIST ONCE AGAIN. Also represented in the Alumni Day Parade is the horse and buggy symbolizing the early beginning of the school which was founded in 1868 by Paran Stevens. Many eyes watch this old familiar sight.

THE STEVENS HIGH SCHOOL BAND is one of the major attractions of the annual Alumni Day Parade. Many look forward to the band's appearance in their bright red and black uniforms and to their fine presentation of marching music. Each member of the organization knows he must do his part to make the band a success. Each is proud to have a share in this successful activity.

A CHEERFUL AND VERY ABLE TYPING STAFF plays an important role in the production of our yearbook — Martha Abel, Jeanne LaFountain, Phyllis Lewis, Marilyn Minard, Marlene Bernard, Judith Ranta, Joan Chrostowski, Margaret Kehoe, Virginia Adams, and Sandra Parizo.

CHARGED WITH THE IMPORTANT TASK of securing sponsorships for the Red and Black, the business staff efficiently carries out its duties — Robert Evans, Gerald McNamara, Judith Arlin, Barbara Bass, Jill Morrison, Marjorie Merrill, Donna Peoples, Marlene Bernard, David O'Haire,

PROUD OF THEIR FINE WORK, the product of many hours of effort, the art staff beams with satisfaction at a job well done — Jean Arioli, Sylvia Spaulding, Lawrence Wight, William Gallagher, and Donald Greenwood.

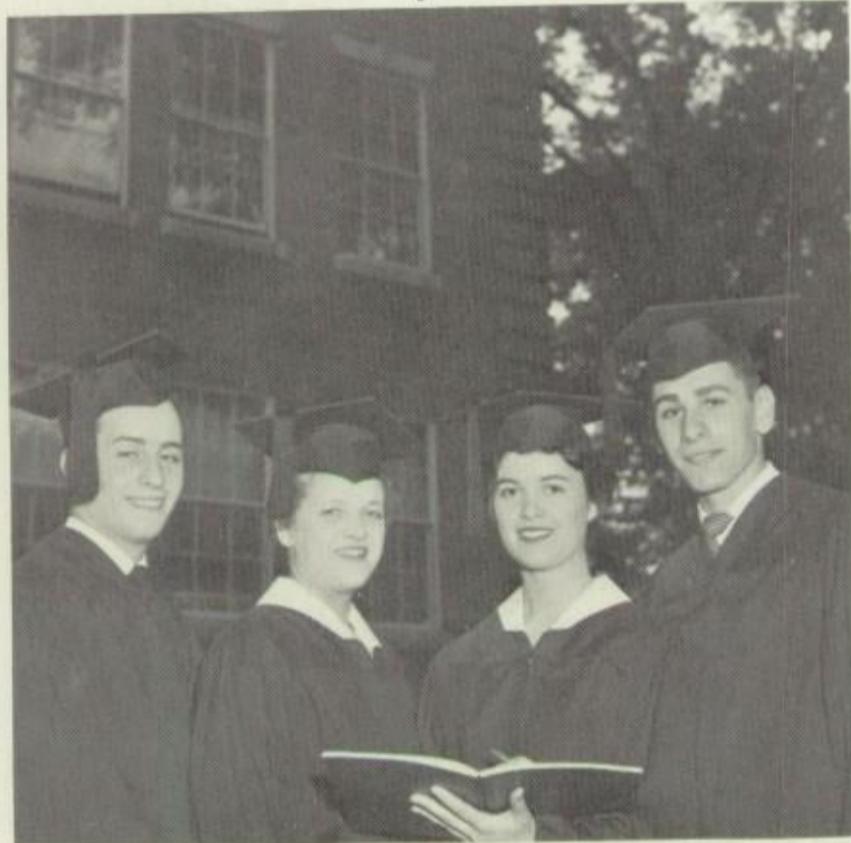

THE FINAL TASK in the production of our yearbook is successfully carried out by the competent subscription staff. They have an important job in providing a successful termination for the climaxing project of our years at Stevens. — Richard Willis, Ruhama Crandall, Alistair MacBain, Shirley Carter, and Marilyn Garceau.

The staff of the 1959 "Red and Black" wishes to express its sincere gratitude to the Merchants of Claremont, to loyal Alumni, and to the parents and friends of the graduates for their generosity in supporting this new issue of the Stevens High School yearbook. We also wish to thank Louis Smith, Jack Titchen and William Gallagher for their invaluable aid in photography.
